President's Statement

In opening this catalog, you are taking the first step toward a commitment which will affect the rest of your life. Past joys and successes have led you to contemplate a career in the Performing Arts. Future joys and successes will be in direct proportion to the degree of commitment you make to your profession.

The mission of Boston Conservatory is to assist you in achieving your goal in every way possible. The unique nature of our institution, in which music, dance and theatre are taught, studied, performed, and enjoyed, provides an atmosphere wherein involvement is the byword. Our school is purposefully small in size to assure much individual attention to the growth and development of each future artist. Students are provided with constant opportunities to expand their knowledge and performance skills. The level of achievement you ultimately reach will in large part be determined by your present initiative and dedication.

The Performing Arts are noble professions. Whether you aspire to perform, compose, teach, or direct, be assured that the entire Conservatory family stands with me in pledging our support and assistance in helping you reach your goal.

William A. Seymour,
President

General Information

A SHORT HISTORY

Boston Conservatory of Music was founded February 11, 1867, by the eminent musician, Julius Eichberg, under whose leadership the Conservatory gained a standing among leading music schools, attracting students from all parts of the country.

Following the death of Mr. Eichberg in 1893, the Conservatory came under the direction of R. Marriner Floyd, with noted organist and composer, Herman P. Chelius, serving as musical director. The school was first incorporated under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in 1896, with reorganizations in 1905 and 1914.

In 1920, Agide Jacchia, an honor graduate of the Conservatorio di Pesaro, was appointed director. For ten years conductor of the Boston Pops Orchestra (1917-1926), his knowledge and wide experience proved of inestimable value in establishing the prestige of the Conservatory. He continued as director until his death in 1932 and was succeeded for a short time by his widow, Mme. Ferrabini Jacchia.

In 1933, the Conservatory came under the leadership of Albert Alphin, a former pupil and teacher at the school. He was responsible for reorganizing the school as a non-profit institution, acquiring its present complex of buildings on The Fenway and the construction of the theatre building in 1949. Innovations under his guidance included the formulation of the Music Education Department in 1933 and the establishment of the theatre and dance departments, offering baccalaureate degrees. This combination was unique in making the school one of the first conservatories in the country to offer professional training in the three performing arts.

In 1967, in the hundredth year of the Conservatory, George A. Brambilla was elected as fifth president of the Conservatory, having served as Dean since 1963. It was during his tenure that further recognition was granted the Conservatory by national and regional accrediting agencies. The expansion of facilities allowed for dramatic growth of student body and faculty, enhancing the Conservatory's standing in the educational community.

In 1979, Dale A. DuVall, formerly vice-president for business operations, was appointed president. During his administration many business functions were modernized and a system of automatic data processing was instituted in the business and registrar's offices.

William A. Seymour was appointed seventh president of the Conservatory in August, 1981, following an affiliation with the Conservatory extending back to 1967 when he served as associate dean and director of the chorale. Mr. Seymour brings to the Conservatory his many years of expertise in administration in arts education. He has addressed himself to the development of student resources, continuing to cultivate an outstanding professional faculty, and offering the highest quality education in the three performing arts.

The Boston Conservatory is committed to the belief that performance is fundamental to any career in the arts, and it is with this belief that the Conservatory seeks to develop performance skills in all students. The faculty of performing artists, composers, and scholars has an earnest commitment to teaching and encouraging students in all areas of their art.

It is the purpose of Boston Conservatory to provide professional training in the three performing arts reinforced by a sound general education that will make its graduates more resourceful as performers and teachers. The numerous graduates now successfully active as professionals and as teachers speak for the realization of this purpose. To its continued realization, the faculty and administration are wholeheartedly devoted.

PUBLIC PERFORMANCES

The Conservatory offers a full schedule of public performances. Indeed, proficiency in performance is regarded as fundamental to an education in the arts. More than 250 public performances are offered to Boston audiences throughout the academic year from faculty and student solo and chamber music recitals, senior dance projects, workshops, and major department performances by the Boston Conservatory Dance Theatre, the Boston Conservatory Theatre Company, the Opera Theatre, the Symphony Orchestra, and the Wind Ensemble.

Faculty and guest artists appear frequently throughout the year. Regular attendance at these performances and participation by students is a vital part of the educational experience at the Conservatory.

ENSEMBLES IN RESIDENCE

Brass Transit was formed in the fall of 1982, and gave its debut concert at The Boston Conservatory during the 1982-83 season. Its members, Peter Chapman and Timothy Morrison (trumpets), Walter Brauer and Donald Sanders (trombones), and Jay Wadenpfuhl (horn) share a common commitment to the performance of chamber music for brass instruments in many combinations with a particular interest in the contemporary literature. Brass Transit gives a series of concerts at The Boston Conservatory and conducts master classes for brass students. The members of the quintet are all members of the applied brass faculty of The Boston Conservatory.

The Boston Conservatory Chamber Players were formed in 1981 from members of the faculty. The Chamber Players present a six concert series at Sanders Theatre, Cambridge, and a three concert series in New York. This group performs works of the 18th, 19th, and 20th centuries for combinations of up to eight instruments. Prominent guest artists join the Chamber Players for the concert both in Boston and in N.Y. The Chamber Players members are Stephanie Chase, Lynn Chang, and Vyacheslav Uritsky (violinists), Katherine Murdock (violist), Ronald Thomas and Bruce Coppock (cellists), Thomas Hill (clarinetist), Fenwick Smith (flutist) and Jung-Ja Kim and Christopher O'Riley (pianists).

The Emmanuel Wind Quintet was formed in 1975 to prepare and perform Arnold Schoenberg's monumental Wind Quintet. Since that time, the Quintet has performed extensively throughout the eastern United States, playing not only the Schoenberg but most of the important twentieth century wind quintet literature. By performing music primarily of this century, the Emmanuel Wind Quintet presents the best of the literature, a repertoire which ranges in style from the music of Villa-Lobos and Nielsen to that of Carter and Druckman. The quintet presents a series of concerts at the Conservatory, and master classes throughout the year.

STUDENT LIFE

STUDENT GOVERNMENT. The administration, faculty, and student body enthusiastically support the Student Government Organization. Officers to the Student Government are elected annually from the student body and represent Music, Dance, and Theatre Divisions. A working association between Student Government and the faculty, administrative family, and board of trustees, assures that students are kept aware of vital Conservatory issues and have an opportunity to contribute to the operations and long range planning of the institution.

DORMITORY LIFE. Conservatory residences provide a setting in which students from all Divisions have the opportunity to interact and socialize.

The residence staffs and students work together to plan special events throughout the year, such as a free film series, coffeehouses, post-recital receptions, holiday parties, and formal and informal dances. Non-resident Conservatory students are also welcome to attend most of these activities.

SIGMA ALPHA IOTA FRATERNITY. Membership in this international professional fraternity for women in the field of music is based on scholarship, musicianship, personality, and character. Undergraduate students and faculty members of schools throughout the world are members of this organization. Overall membership includes alumnae, patronage, and honorary members, among whom are prominent concert artists, teachers, composers, and art patrons of exceptional musical standing.

PHI MU ALPHA SINFONIA FRATERNITY. This is a professional music fraternity dedicated to the advancement of music and to brotherhood among men engaged in music or music-related activities. Membership includes students, conductors, performers, composers, arrangers, teachers, publishers, radio and TV personalities, etc. A candidate for membership is selected by a chapter vote based upon his character and his musical and academic qualification.

The Sinfonia Foundation is a fraternity-sponsored corporation whose purpose is to extend the professional and philanthropic activity of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia. The Foundation provides grants for scholarship and research in music, encourages the creation of new works through a commissioning program, and extends support to worthwhile projects involving music or music-related activities. The primary purpose of this fraternity is to encourage and actively promote the highest standards of creativity, performance, education, and research in music in America.

MUSIC EDUCATORS NATIONAL CONFERENCE. The Conservatory's Chapter 336 of MENC is a student chapter of the national organization and is affiliated with the Massachusetts Music Educators Association. The purposes of the chapter are as follows: to improve the professional competence of the membership through workshops, demonstrations, and clinics which supplement the music education major's curriculum; to communicate the achievements and concerns of the profession to the student members; to serve as a channel of communication to others within the profession, at the Conservatory and at other institutions; and to help maintain close contact with outstanding professional teachers.

Some recent chapter activities include Dalcroze Eurhythmics Workshops, a marching band clinic, recitals, fundraising drives, presentations at Massachusetts All-State Conventions, attendance at state conventions, and workshops. Chapter 336 presents a commencement award to the music education senior who is voted by the Chapter as the outstanding musician and scholar who has contributed significantly to the Music Education program and the Chapter.

ARTS IN BOSTON. Boston is rich in cultural activities and organizations. Symphony Hall, home of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, is within the neighborhood, as is the Museum of Fine Arts. The Boston Ballet, Opera Company, and the many professional and non-professional theatres offer an almost endless variety of entertainment activities.

PRO-ARTS CONSORTIUM. The Boston Conservatory participates in a professional Arts Consortium of five schools in the Back Bay area. Through the Consortium, students are offered both formally and informally the opportunity to enrich their experience with the arts through contact with students and faculty from The Boston Architectural Center, The School of The Museum of Fine Arts, Massachusetts College of Art and Emerson College.

THE ALBERT ALPHIN MUSIC LIBRARY

The Albert Alphin Music Library, located on the second floor of the main administration building at 8 The Fenway, houses a specialized collection of books, scores, periodicals and audio-visual materials supportive of the curricula at the Conservatory. Particular strengths are in the areas of music performance, music history and literature, music education, opera, musical theatre, world drama, dance history, dance notation, and choreography. Additionally, there is a representative core collection of college-level books in the liberal arts. Standards for collection development and operational procedures are followed as set by various professional organizations. To meet the needs of the faculty and students, the library increases its holdings substantially each year. The total collection is estimated at 40,000 volumes.

The complete works of major composers and a broad representation of minor and contemporary composers are represented through the 1,700 volumes of urtext editions of Gesamtausgaben, collections of study scores, performing editions, and sound recordings. Performing editions include repertoire for orchestra, string orchestra, chamber orchestra, concert band, chamber ensembles, stage band, chorus and solo instruments, notably keyboard and guitar. An extensive collection of opera scores and libretti, including many rare editions, along with scores for lieder and art songs, form the vocal repertoire collection. Also housed are the compositions of Boston Conservatory faculty and composition majors, along with Boston Conservatory masters degree theses in music education.

A separate section of the library contains the drama & musical theatre collection comprised of many volumes on world playwrights, the history of world drama, plays, mime, and monologues from all periods, and related areas of costume, fashion, masks, make-up, lighting, set design and stagecraft. Also included in this collection are musical theatre scores and books, along with sound recordings of plays and musicals.

A noteworthy collection is the Jan Veen-Katrine Amory Hooper Memorial Collection containing many rare and foreign books on dance and art. Within the dance section, which contains books on dance history, biography, dance forms, and choreography, is a special collection on the subject of dance notation. Represented here is the chronological development of the Sutton Movement Shorthand. Created by former faculty member, Valerie Sutton, it is an innovative system of movement notation for the dance in use nationally with a broad range of applicability, such as working with the deaf. Visual aids include video tapes of faculty and student choreography and performances, and slides on dance and art history.

Listening facilities are housed in both the Main Library and the Music Education Resource Center, which also contains a specialized collection of print and non-print teacher training materials. Audio-visual equipment includes listening tables equipped for individual or group use with turntables, reel-to-reel, and cassette tape decks, as well as a video tape receiver and deck, and slide, film, and filmstrip projectors. In addition to phonograph recordings of musical repertoire from the earliest history to the present, there are audio and video tape archives of Conservatory performances by all three divisions and recordings of plays, speech dialects, operas, operettas, musical theatre works, and the spoken arts.

The Library's resources are supplemented by the wealth of academic and special libraries to be found in the Boston area notably in those sixteen libraries comprising the Boston Area Music Libraries (BAML). Visitor passes for research purposes may be obtained and materials may be borrowed through the interlibrary loan system which also gives users access to libraries across the nation. The famous Boston Public Library with its history collections is easily available due to proximity. The Conservatory Library's growth is regularly enhanced by benefactors whose contributions to a broad range of the Library's many collection areas are deeply appreciated.

- Conservatory Diploma
- Master of Music

GUITAR

- Neil Anderson
- Robert Guthrie

The guitar training program at Boston Conservatory of Music provides the guitarist with an opportunity to acquire skills essential for his professional career with respect to performing and teaching.

Guitar majors give public recitals in their Junior and Senior years, as the culmination of weekly lessons with their applied instructors. Chamber Music is an integral part of the program. Eight semesters of Guitar Ensemble help ensure a comprehensive knowledge of the ensemble literature as well as a thorough understanding of research and interpretation techniques.

The Guitar major carefully studies the art of teaching in the Guitar Pedagogy class. Guitar Literature and Research Techniques classes provide a broader knowledge of the instrument and the music written for it. The Repertoire Performance class is a weekly opportunity for the guitarist to improve his performing abilities.

Guitar students have frequent opportunities to play early music in the Collegium Musicum and new music in the Contemporary Ensemble.

The Piano faculty stress the complete preparation of students in all aspects of their pianistic careers. Intensive individual study directed to building solid technical competence and broad musical knowledge is the focus of the student-teacher relationship and culminates in the Junior and Senior recitals. In addition, students are urged to perform on a regular basis in master classes and formal 'concert hour' presentations.

The Organ faculty also stress excellence in performance and the exposure to a wide variety of repertoire and styles. Church music courses are offered to help provide students with a broader knowledge of the art.

The String faculty strive to develop the technical proficiency and the musical maturity of their students through an intensive studio experience. Special emphasis is placed on orchestral training and chamber music coaching. In addition, students enjoy an association with master teachers and guest artists in master classes, performance classes, and in the preparation of chamber concerts which are scheduled throughout the year.

The faculty of nationally known performers includes members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Together, the string faculty bring to their students many years of performing and teaching experience, and are devoted to the development of young string players.

The curricular structure and requirements are designed to allow students a minimum of 4 hours practice time daily.

The Scholarship Quartet has been established to assist four outstanding musicians in realizing their professional potential through specialized instruction and coaching. Other chamber music groups coach weekly and perform in regularly scheduled chamber music concerts. The many performing organizations and the proximity of the Dance and Theatre divisions provide interested students with other performing opportunities.

Instruction in Harp is available both as a major field of study, and as a supplement to those majoring in other areas. Emphasis is placed on solo and ensemble playing.

The Voice program at the Conservatory is designed to assist the young singer to achieve technical proficiency and build a foundation which will lead to a true mastery of the art of good singing. Every aspect of the vocal art is developed, including solo and choral techniques. A significant portion of the course structure is devoted to the study of languages and their pronunciation on the stage.

Performance is considered of principal importance to all students, both majors and concentrates, and performance skills are developed through solo and ensemble performing in recital, in opera, and with instrumental groups. Formal Junior and Senior Recitals are presented by all voice majors; Senior Recitals are presented by voice concentrates. Students are expected to perform appropriate literature from all periods and genres, including the German lied, the French Melodie, and contemporary art song.

There are outstanding opportunities for the singer who demonstrates potential and artistic dedication, to make significant strides toward a successful career in singing.

The program of study for Wind and Percussion players is designed to allow the development of the student's technical and musical skills in orchestral, wind ensemble, and chamber music literature, as well as in the solo repertoire for his instrument.

Programs of study include not only private instruction in the principal instrument, but also keyboard training, theory, music history and literature, composition, conducting, and a wide variety of liberal arts courses. There is an emphasis on the concept of intelligent performance along with the cultivation of a spirit of the ensemble.

All students must perform at least one public recital which demonstrates a high degree of artistry, and outstanding performers may audition for solo appearances with major performing organizations.

The opera training program is a comprehensive course of study designed to prepare the singer in the various skills needed by the present-day performer.

Special emphasis is given to the study of scenes and arias from the standard repertoire. Scenes and arias which have been prepared under the supervision of the artist-faculty are presented before the public in a series of scenes programs which are scheduled at regular intervals throughout the Fall.

Weekly instruction is given in Acting and Improvisation, French, Italian, and German Diction, Stage Make-up, Ballet, Movement, Mime and Aria Coaching. In addition, musical rehearsals are scheduled as necessary.

Two fully staged productions with orchestra are mounted during the Spring Semester for presentation to the public. The Opera Theatre has earned a reputation for providing productions of highest artistic merit and are frequently compared in the press with professional companies in the New England area.

In recent seasons, the Opera Theatre has presented productions of The Ballad of Baby Doe, The Marriage of Figaro, The Bosom of Tiresias, Il Trittico, Dialogues of the Carmelites, Riders to the Sea, A Month in the Country, Signor Deluso, L'Egisto, Sancta Susanna, the American premiere of The Vampyre, and the world premiere of The Tell-Tale Heart.

The Composition faculty endeavors to provide the student with the basic tools of the craft of composition.

A curriculum offering a thorough exploration of the theoretical subjects — harmony, counterpoint, and form — as well as private instruction in composition helps the student to become familiar with the techniques of various styles of the past and to discover his own mode of expression. Frequent composition concerts give the student the opportunity to hear his works performed in public.

The Composition faculty also offers the necessary theoretical foundation for non-composition majors. Studies in harmony, solfege, and form help the performer and teacher to develop a better understanding of the process of musical interpretation.

In addition to the above, Graduate Composition majors are required to prepare a thesis. The thesis will be one of the following:

1. An original composition scored for full orchestra and requiring not less than 15 minutes in performance. The composition may be for chorus, solo voice or an instrument with orchestral accompaniment.
2. An original composition for chamber orchestra requiring not less than 15 minutes in performance.
3. An original orchestral composition scored for full orchestra, requiring not less than 10 minutes in performance, and a shorter work for chorus or an instrumental combination requiring not less than 5 minutes in performance.

Two bound scores of the thesis must be presented to the Conservatory Library no less than two weeks prior to the date of graduation. In addition, graduate students in composition are required to present a full recital of approximately 40 minutes duration of their original compositions.

Boston Conservatory recognizes its responsibility to student and community alike and to the pursuit of excellence in its preparation of musician-teachers for the future. Only through comprehensive training will the beginning educator be able to meet the needs of contemporary schools.

Music Education Majors are given the unique opportunity to spend 8 full semesters in direct contact with learners in Greater Boston schools. Through field internship and senior student teaching, each student gains experience in instrumental, vocal, general music, and special education classes at the elementary, middle, and high school levels.

An intensive series of Core courses coupled with a comprehensive program of instrumental and choral methods courses allows the students to develop the diversity so essential to becoming a successful teacher in today's schools.

A new breed of young music teachers is needed . . . one which possesses the drive and stamina to welcome the adventure of a quickly changing world and a high degree of commitment to the furthering of excellence in arts education. Boston Conservatory seeks to share this adventure.

GRADUATE DIVISION

DEGREES

Master of Music in Music Performance
Master of Music in Choral Conducting
Master of Music in Composition
Master of Music in Music Education
Master of Music in Opera Performance
Artist Diploma in Opera Performance
Artist Diploma in Organ

William B. Dederer,
Coordinator

The Graduate Division offers courses leading to Master of Music degrees with Majors in Applied Music, Choral Conducting, Composition, Music Education, and Opera Performance. Those who hold Bachelor of Music degrees or other equivalent baccalaureate degrees with major in music from a school of recognized standing, are eligible to apply for admission. Records of undergraduate studies presented for entrance must represent work equivalent in quality and content to that prescribed for similar undergraduate degrees at Boston Conservatory.

GENERAL REQUIREMENTS. The minimum requirements for the Master of Music degree is the completion of 32 credit hours of study, 26 of which must be earned in residence at the Conservatory. An overall average of B (3.0) or better must be earned, with no grade below B allowed in the major applied area. D and E grades carry no credit toward a degree. It may be assumed that completion of a graduate program will require at least 4 semesters of study.

Applied majors, or music education majors electing the recital option, are required to earn all of their applied music credits with Boston Conservatory faculty.

Examinations will be administered during the week before the beginning of each semester in theory, ear training, and music history. Deficiencies, if any, will require prerequisite study without academic credit, and at additional cost. Prerequisites must be completed during the first two semesters of graduate study. A change of major from the undergraduate level will usually involve the fulfillment of prerequisites.

All graduate programs, including electives and changes of program, must be approved by the Graduate Coordinator, and all degree requirements must be completed within 5 years of the date of matriculation.

Full-time graduate students are required to participate in rehearsals and performances of major musical organizations without academic credit.

Graduate electives must be chosen in accordance with the needs of the individual candidate in his chosen area of specialization and with the advice and consent of the Graduate Coordinator. No elective credit is granted for participation in performing ensembles.

Individual graduate curricula are found under department headings.

MAJOR MUSICAL ORGANIZATIONS

Richard Castiglione, Wind Ensemble
Max Hobart, Orchestra
Allen Lannom, Chorale and Festival Chorus
John Moriarty, Opera

The Major Musical Organizations of The Conservatory are an integral aspect of musical development for all music majors. All full-time music majors, both undergraduate and graduate are required to successfully participate in at least one Major Musical Organization during each semester of matriculation. Some curricula may require additional ensemble experiences.

Assignment to ensembles are made by audition. Ensemble offerings appear on page 51.

MUSIC HISTORY & LITERATURE

Andrea Olmstead
Bradley Pennington

The Music History and Literature program is constructed to serve the needs of the scholarly performer. All music majors study representative periods of music history and literature. Additional studies are allowed through elective courses.

Course content is based on the sequential study of a particular period with concentration on pertinent readings and listening assignments. The goal is a knowledge of composers, their music, and the context in which they are found.

John Lepiarz, Mime
Geraldine Librandi, Acting
Steven McConnell, Acting, Directing, Shakespeare
Janet Rodgers, Speech
Ken Stanton, Musical Theatre, Arranging, Musical Fundamentals

The Musical Theatre curriculum is designed to provide comprehensive training for the actor-singer-dancer. Acting, speech, voice and dance form the basis of the program. For Musical Theatre majors who have had extensive dance training, and who display an outstanding aptitude, an additional concentrate in dance may be arranged.

Integral to the course work is a schedule of major productions and workshops which aim at providing immediate and continuous performance experience to test and stretch the developing performer.

Academic requirements further enhance the program by creating a context for understanding the theatre's contributions to man's cultural life.

Supervised experiences in directing and technical production complete the program, allowing the student personal contact with the total theatre experience.

The professional dance course at Boston Conservatory is an integrated program of Ballet, Modern, Jazz, and Ethnic techniques. Pedagogy and choreographic elements, including Musical Theatre courses, develop through the four years with more complexity as the student develops. A high standard of training is acquired from the professional faculty, giving a strong mastery of the techniques.

The student has many opportunities to perform through choreographic workshop programs, musicals, community programs, and with the Conservatory Dance Theatre. Emphasis is on the performing professional dancer who can teach or choreograph with constant guidance by the faculty toward a major concentration.

Students enrolled in degree programs at other institutions may be eligible to receive academic credit for certain courses taken through the Dance Division.

The Liberal Arts faculty at Boston Conservatory works enthusiastically with the professional faculties to make the academic component of the degree curricula a significant resource for the developing artist. Thus the hub of our program is a two-year Arts Core: a freshman Art and Civilization course that offers the student a global perspective of the relationship between art and life; and a sophomore Expression and Communication course that focuses on the student's own communication skills and creative processes. A range of electives provides an opportunity to analytically confront current socio-political, philosophical, educational, psychological, scientific, and literary trends and issues from a humanistic perspective.

Course Descriptions

MUSIC DIVISION

ACCOMPANYING & PIANO SKILLS

Accompanying 1-2, 3-4. The study and techniques of piano accompaniment for vocal and instrumental literature; practical experience through work with student performers.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit per semester

Keyboard Sight Reading. An introduction to the concepts of style and interpretation. The development of visual, tactile and aural senses to assist the student in becoming proficient in the reading of music from various periods and styles.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit per semester

Piano 1-2. An introduction to basic keyboard skills: hand and fingering patterns, sight reading, harmonization using diatonic functions, and transposition. Supportive piano literature is assigned on an individual basis.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit per semester

Piano 3-4. A continuation of Piano 1-2, with emphasis on sight reading, harmonization (secondary and chromatic functions) and an introduction to score reading (vocal and instrumental). Supportive piano literature assigned on an individual basis.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit per semester

APPLIED MUSIC

Intensive private study of the technique and repertoire of the student's principal instrument. Applied music requirements and levels are determined by the instructor and confirmed by the faculty jury through periodic examination. Voice, Instrumental and Opera majors are assigned a one hour private lesson weekly. Music Education, Musical Theatre, and Composition majors are assigned one-half hour private lessons weekly. Students may elect additional instruction at extra cost.

CHORAL CONDUCTING

Directed Study/Recital. Under the guidance of appropriate faculty, the student will engage in research and analysis which will culminate in a document covering works to be presented in a public performance. Historical, analytical, interpretative and technical material will comprise the document. The performance will be with an approved choral organization.

3 credits per semester

Choral Literature I. The small form in choral music; Renaissance motet and madrigal, chorale, part song, anthem, folk song and spiritual arrangements; performance style as related to the genre and period; includes singing and/or study of many choral selections.

2 credits per semester

Choral Literature II. The large form in choral music; mass requiem, oratorio, cantata, passion, etc; includes detailed analytical study of selected major works.

2 credits per semester

Choral Techniques and Interpretation. Developing tone for the individual singer and for ensemble; time as related to historical style; rehearsal techniques; choral administration; text-music relationship; application of techniques to school, church, and community choral groups.

2 credits per semester

The Choral Conductor and the Orchestra. Insights and ideas for the musician whose background may be predominantly in the choral field, but who needs the ability to deal effectively with an orchestra or instrumental ensemble.

2 credits per semester

CHURCH MUSIC

Church Music 1-2. Choir Training. Methods of organization, rehearsal techniques, choral repertory, program building, various rituals, chant, pronunciation of church Latin.

1 hour weekly; 2 credits per semester

Church Music 103-104. Study and discussion of choral and instrumental literature of the church, new forms, and media of expression, individual assignments according to the student's interests; discussion of administrative policies in the operation of a church music program.

2 hours weekly; 2 credits per semester

Service Playing 1-2 (103-104). A study of the church service from the perspective of the organ console: the prelude, hymn playing and improvisation, conducting from the console and anthem accompanying.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit per semester (undergraduates)

2 hours weekly; 2 credits per semester (graduates)

CONDUCTING

Conducting 1-2. The elementary technique of conducting applied to both choral and instrumental music. Principles of attack and release, setting and changing tempi, phrasing and interpretation; practice in score reading.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit per semester

Conducting 3-4. Reading and analysis of more complex scores and more advanced baton technique.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit per semester.

Conducting Workshop. The reading and performance of instrumental and vocal materials at various school levels; intensive study in score reading, instrumental transposition, musical terminology and applied solfege; occasional work with the basic instrumental methods class. Prerequisite: Conducting 1 & 2 (M.E. 26).

4 hours weekly; 4 credits per semester

Conducting 105-106. Advanced Instrumental Conducting. The investigation of more difficult problems confronting the instrumental conductor, with emphasis on orchestral procedures, performance practices, development of the orchestra, and instrumental requirements of major composers.

1/2 hour private lesson weekly; 2 credits per semester

DICTION FOR SINGERS

Diction 1-2 (103-104). The study of stage pronunciation and enunciation in Italian, French, and German, with comparisons made to the sounds in English, and utilizing the International Phonetic Alphabet.

2 hours weekly; 2 credits per semester (undergraduates)

2 hours weekly; 1 credit per semester (graduates)

Diction 105-106. The study of Italian, French, German and English diction with emphasis on aria interpretation through text projection.

2 hours weekly; 1 credit per semester

MUSIC LITERATURE

Guitar Literature 1-2. A survey of the important composers and style periods of the guitar from Renaissance to the present. Included are discussions on performance practice and the critical analysis of modern editions. (Offered in alternate years).

1 hour weekly; 1 credit per semester

Guitar Repertoire Class 1, 2, 3, 4. An introduction to the basic principles of live performance on the concert stage including deportment, technical problems, memorization, musicality, preparation, etc. Critiques from both faculty and colleagues assist the student in becoming more proficient as a performer.

1 hour weekly; .5 credit per semester

Research Techniques for Guitarists 1-2 (103-104). An exploration of the scholarly and musicological aspects of the guitar. Included are the transcription of Renaissance and Baroque lute, vihuela and guitar music from tablature into modern notation. The graduate student will conduct research, under the supervision of the instructor, the result of which should constitute a contribution to the existing knowledge in the field of guitar research. (Offered in alternate years).

1 hour weekly; 1 credit per semester.

History of the Organ 1-2 (103-104). A study of the character and potential of the organ as a musical instrument through the important schools of organ building, i.e. the early French organ, the organ of northern Germany, the French Romantic and the American classic organ. Special emphasis on the relationship of the instrument to the literature of the period.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit per semester (undergraduates)

2 hours weekly; 2 credits per semester (graduates)

Organ Literature 1-2. A discussion and performance of representative works of French, Italian, Flemish, Spanish, German, English and American organ composers from 1200 to the present.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit per semester

Piano Literature 1-2. A survey of masterworks for the piano through live and recorded performance. Particular emphasis is given to editions, composers' intentions, and interpretation.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit per semester

Vocal Literature 1-2. Reading and study of representative literature of English, Italian, French and German composers of all periods.

2 hours weekly; 2 credits per semester

French Repertoire. This course is designed to acquaint the student with the standard repertoire of the Melodie, and to provide the basis for an understanding of the French style of interpretation. Participation by students will be required, in the form of learning and performing songs, reports, and special projects. (graduate course).

Open to a limited number of students (12 singers, 6 pianists). French Diction is required of the singers as a prerequisite. The class is an excellent opportunity for pianists with vocal accompanying experience or interest.

German Repertoire. This course is designed to acquaint the student with the standard repertoire of Lieder, and to provide the basis for an understanding of the German style of interpretation. Participation by students will be required, in the form of learning and performing songs, reports, and special projects.

Open to a limited number of students (12 singers, 6 pianists). German Diction is required of the singers as a prerequisite. The class is an excellent opportunity for pianists with vocal accompanying experience or interest.

MAJOR MUSICAL ORGANIZATIONS

Chorale. A select choral ensemble specializing in the performance of choral literature from early Renaissance through the present.

3 hours weekly; 1 credit per semester

Chorus. The study of sacred and secular works leading to concert performance.

3 hours weekly; 1 credit per semester

Festival Chorus. The combined forces of the chorale and chorus to perform major choral works.

1 1/2 hours weekly; participation required of chorale and chorus members.

Opera Studio or Opera Theatre. The study and performance of operatic repertoire in workshops and full productions.

Orchestra. The study and performance of major orchestral and choral compositions. Advanced students may audition as soloists for performances scheduled each year. Both rehearsals and performances are required of all students accepted to orchestra.

4 hours weekly; 1 credit per semester

Wind Ensemble. The study and performance of the literature for wind ensemble from traditional and contemporary repertoire. Outstanding soloists are encouraged to audition for performances with the ensemble.

4 hours weekly; 1 credit per semester

CHAMBER MUSIC

The Conservatory offers Chamber Music Ensembles to satisfy the need for experience with the Chamber Music relevant to each student's major instrument. Through a unified and coordinated program, not only are the traditional chamber ensembles offered, but also the flexibility necessary to offer unique experiences is inherent.

OPERA STUDIES

Undergraduate voice majors accepted to Opera Studio may earn 1 credit per semester as musical organization for their participation in Opera Studio and all supportive courses requisite to the program.

If accepted to the program, graduate voice majors may earn 4 credits per semester for participation in Opera Studio or Theatre and all supportive courses requisite to the program.

Undergraduate voice majors may audition in their fourth semester for admission to the curriculum leading to the Bachelor of Music Degree with Major in Opera Preparation and will follow the curriculum on page 31.

Students accepted to the Master of Music Degree program with Major in Opera Performance will follow the curriculum on page 31. Those accepted to the Artist Diploma program with Major in Opera Performance will follow the curriculum on page 32.

Vocal Performance 1-2. Introduction to the basic principles of live performance in concert and opera. Studies in concentration, focus, text projection and the preparation of songs, arias, and short operatic scenes.

4 hours weekly; 2 credits per semester (opera majors)

4 hours weekly; 1 credit per semester (voice majors)

Vocal Performance 3-4. The study of more difficult literature, with an emphasis on physical characterization and dramatic analysis. The study and coordination of singing, movement and acting, which leads to the public performance of scenes.

4 hours weekly; 2 credits per semester (opera majors)

4 hours weekly; 1 credit per semester (voice majors)

Opera Studio. Advanced techniques of characterization, dramatic analysis, and ensemble singing in English and foreign languages. Performance of scenes and one-act operas. Opera chorus in major productions.

4 hours weekly; 2 credits per semester (undergraduates)

4 hours weekly; 1 1/2 credits per semester (graduates)

Opera Theatre. Enrollment by casting. Study and presentation of full productions with orchestra. Professional theatre disciplines. Classes with guest directors and performers.

4 hours weekly; 2 credits per semester (undergraduates)

4 hours weekly; 1 1/2 credits per semester (graduates)

Movement for Singers 1-2 (105-106). Basic ballet disciplines, control and relaxation of the body, period steps, bows, expressive movement and isolated movement, i.e., walking, standing, sitting, falling, etc.

2 hours weekly; 1 credit per semester

Movement for Singers 3-4 (107-108). A continued study of movement with emphasis on relaxation and focus of energy.

2 hours weekly; 1 credit per semester

- Stage Make-up. Introduction to the basic techniques of character, straight and audition make-up for the stage; wigs, moustaches, and beards.
1 hour weekly; 1 credit per semester (undergraduates)
1 hour weekly; 1/2 credit per semester (graduates)
- Improvisation 1-2 (105-106). A study of internal acting technique as applied to the craft of the singing actor. Exercises in concentration, relaxation, communication, sense memory and ensemble acting.
1 hour weekly; no credit (undergraduates)
1 hour weekly; 1/2 credit per semester (graduates)
- Improvisation 3-4 (107-108). A concentration on more advanced singing-acting techniques. Physical responses to music. Improvised movement and singing. Heightened response to other performers. Study of adjustment necessary in performing situations.
1 hour weekly; no credit (undergraduates)
1 hour weekly; 1/2 credit per semester (graduates)
- Mime 101-102. The advanced study of physical control and coordination. Expressive use of the face and body. Prerequisites: Movement 1-4.
1 hour weekly; 1/2 credit per semester
- Diction 1-2 (103-104). The study of stage pronunciation and enunciation in Italian, French, and German, with comparisons made to sounds in English, and utilizing the International Phonetic alphabet.

2 hours weekly; 1 credit per semester (graduates)
- Diction 105-106. The study of Italian, French, German, and English diction with emphasis on aria interpretation through text projection.
2 hours weekly; 1 credit per semester.
- Characterization and Audition Technique 101-102. Discussion and demonstration of styles of characterization in various operatic periods. Discussion of musical styles and their effect on the physical presentation. Preparation of professional auditions. Practical advice on resumes, audition repertoire and presentation, contacting opera companies and managers, and career preparation.
2 hours weekly; 1 credit per semester

VOCAL COACHING

- Vocal Coaching 1-2 (103-104). Individual instruction in the interpretation, phrasing, diction, and style of compositions in the standard repertoire. Collaboration with the applied instructor in the choice and preparation of repertoire to be presented in required recitals.
1/2 hour private lessons weekly; 2 credits per semester

MUSIC EDUCATION

Core 1 Introduction to Music Education. An introduction to techniques for analyzing teaching methods and materials through school observations and videotapes of music classes. An investigation of the attitudinal and professional characteristics of the successful music teacher. A survey of the varied roles which the music specialist may fill in contemporary schools. An overview of instructional materials and media hardware utilized in music teaching.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit first semester

Core 2 Media Methods for Music Instruction. A comprehensive investigation of the instructional media hardware and software commonly used in music teaching. Experience with audio tape recorders, turntables, overhead and opaque projectors, photo equipment, duplication machines, film, slide and filmstrip projectors, and graphic production. There is emphasis on teacher-made instructional materials and field-internship in an elementary general classroom in an area public school.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit second semester

Core 3 Media Methods for Music Instruction. A study of patch board and pre-patched electronic synthesizers, magnetic tape editing techniques, and videotape scripting and production. There is emphasis on teacher-made instructional materials and hands-on experience with sophisticated electronic media. Field internship in special education setting, secondary school, or inner city school.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit first semester.

Core 4 Music Methods for the Special Needs and Gifted Child. Methods of identifying children with special gifts and talents in the arts, and children with special needs and handicaps. Methods of adapting or enhancing music lessons to meet the needs of the gifted and handicapped. Identification of the emotional, physical and intellectual characteristics of gifted and special needs students. Techniques for establishing special programs for special children as well as ideas for mainstreaming special children into the existing music program. Implications of state and national legislation. Field internship with gifted or special needs children in area school.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit second semester

Core 5 Music in the Elementary School. An introduction to the procedures and materials for teaching music to children in grades kindergarten through six. Development of skills in analyzing teaching materials, setting instructional goals and objectives, and writing lesson plans designed to assist the child in becoming a musically sensitive person. Introduction to the Orff, Kodaly, Dalcroze, Manhattanville, Carabo-Cone, Konowitz, and Conceptual approaches. A field internship in an area elementary school with an emphasis on the presentation of a weekly music lesson. Prerequisites: Cores 1-4.

3 hours weekly; 3 credits first semester

Core 6 Music in the Secondary School. Methods and materials pertinent to the education of junior and senior high school students. Exposure to content areas, audio-visual aids, discipline approaches, teaching strategies, classroom organization, lesson organization, and instructional presentation necessary for the secondary school classroom. A field internship in an area junior or senior high school.

3 hours weekly; 3 credits second semester

Core 7 Senior Seminar I. Practice in preparation of the professional resume. Experiences in classroom management and discipline techniques. An introduction to educational tests and measurements. Six weekly observations in area school systems and six weeks of internship in the school system in which the student will do practice teaching. Prerequisites: Cores 1-6.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit first semester

Core 8 Senior Seminar II and Practice Teaching

Senior Seminar II. Introduction to communication and public relations techniques for music teachers. Role-played practice in job interviewing. Preparation for state teachers certification. In-depth case study discussions and analyses of situations encountered in student teaching. Prerequisites: Cores 1-7.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit second semester

Student Teaching Practicum. The senior selects a major and a minor area of concentration from the following:

Elementary School Instruction (Grades K-9)

Secondary School Instruction (Grades 5-12)

Six weeks (150 hours) of full-time student teaching in minor area and twelve weeks (300 hours) of full-time student teaching under public school master teachers with supervision by Conservatory personnel, resulting in state teacher certification for music teaching in grades K-12. Prerequisites: Cores 1-6.

Minor: 3 credits

Major: 6 credits (second semester only)

M.E. 9 Curriculum Development and Research. Exposure to contemporary teaching strategies, organizational considerations, components of curriculum design, current curricular designs and materials. Course will culminate with a student-composed curriculum design. Prerequisites: Cores 1-6.

2 hours weekly; 2 credits first semester

M.E. 10-11 Introduction to Instrumental Methods. A beginning study in the methods and materials available to the instrumental director in the public school. Classification of instruments and a brief survey of timbres, construction, characteristics and limitations in school use. Emphasis on elementary and middle school instrumental class methods. Students will perform a wide variety of elementary and middle school level music on their secondary instruments (clarinet or trumpet). Seniors enrolled in M.E. 11 will be responsible for conducting this elementary ensemble periodically.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit per semester

(cont'd)

M.E. 12 Guitar Class. The study of the guitar and its use in the classroom. The basic techniques of picking, strumming and chording are covered in detail.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit first semester

M.E. 13-14 Clarinet Class

M.E. 15-16 Trumpet Class

M.E. 17-18 Violin Class

Basic Instrument Classes. Class lessons emphasizing the process of teaching an instrument through the beginning and early intermediate stages. An in-depth study of basic techniques and teaching methods.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit per semester

M.E. 19 Woodwind Techniques, Methods and Materials. Concentrated study of woodwind instruments with special attention given to basic technique, fingering, tuning, articulation, breathing, transposition, acoustics, range, materials and teaching procedures. Prerequisite: M.E. 13-14.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit first semester

M.E. 20 Brass Techniques, Methods and Materials. Concentrated study of brass instruments with special attention given to acoustics, basic techniques of embouchure, breathing and articulation, transposition, materials and teaching practices. Prerequisite: M.E. 15-16.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit second semester

M.E. 21 String Techniques, Methods and Materials. Concentrated study of stringed instruments with special attention given to basic technique, fingering, positions, bowings, tuning, articulation, acoustics, materials and teaching procedures. Prerequisite: M.E. 17-18.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit first semester

M.E. 22 Percussion Techniques, Methods and Materials. Concentrated study of percussion instruments with special attention given to basic techniques of snare drum playing.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit first semester

M.E. 23 Instrumental Methods. A continuing study of the methods and materials available to the instrumental music director in the public school, with attention given to tuning, fundamental techniques, playing and care of instruments; homogenous and heterogenous combinations utilizing various methods of class instruction. Emphasis on large ensembles, concert and marching bands, orchestra and jazz ensemble. Prerequisites: M.E. 13-22.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit first semester

M.E. 24 Voice Class. A study of the basic techniques of vocal production including breathing, voice placement, diction, and pitch, with special emphasis on choral singing.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit second semester

M.E. 25 Choral Techniques, Methods and Materials. The study of the organization of choral ensembles within the school music program. Investigation of the voice physiologically as an instrument; audition techniques, voice testing, and part placement; choral techniques, including tone production, intonation, balance, blend and diction. Examination of all levels of materials. Prerequisite: M.E. 24.

2 hours weekly; 2 credits first semester

M.E. 26 Instrumental and Choral Conducting Workshop. The reading and performance of instrumental and choral materials at various school levels. Intensive study in score reading, instrumental transposition, musical terminology and applied solfege. Occasional work with the basic instrumental methods class. Prerequisite: Conducting 1-2.

4 hours weekly; 4 credits first semester

M.E. 27 Instrumental and Vocal Arranging. Arranging for numerous instrumental combinations including concert and stage band. Choral arranging for SATB with particular emphasis on current music for classroom instruction. Development of arranging skills from piano "lead sheets" and piano arrangements.

2 hours weekly; 2 credits second semester

M.E. 128 Introduction to Graduate Study. A survey of methods and sources for research; formulation of bibliography; development of formal writing style; elementary statistical treatment of data; intensive and extensive study in one area of the student's field of interest, culminating in a project employing research techniques, as approved by the student's major advisor.

2 hours weekly; 2 credits per semester

M.E. 129 Administration of Music Education. An investigation of the personal, technical, sociological, and educational aspects of music administration, with emphasis on the importance of the administrator in the overall picture of the school music program. Evaluative techniques as they relate to program and staff, and application of principles of successful administrative processes.

3 hours weekly; 3 credits per semester

M.E. 130 Curriculum Concepts in Music Education. Experience in the formation of goals and objectives and their use in planning. Analysis of the role of music education in relation to the individual, the school, and the community. An investigation of techniques relating to changing needs in education.

3 hours weekly; 3 credits per semester

M.E. 131 Advanced Choral Methods. A course designed to acquaint the student with choral techniques. Intensive study of the vocal instrument, procedures for group implementation of tone placement, development, intonation, ensemble balance, blend and diction. An investigation of the psychological aspects of choral singing.

2 hours weekly; 2 credits per semester

(cont'd)

M.E. 132 Instrumental Music Education. A study of the methods and materials of instrumental music in the schools. Special emphasis on the organization and administration of the instrumental music program, the development of secondary school band and orchestras, repertoire, and rehearsal techniques.

2 hours weekly; 2 credits per semester

M.E. 133 Seminar in Music Education. A discussion and analysis of the problems of developing a modern philosophy and method for teaching in the public schools. Seminar topics are chosen according to needs and interests.

3 hours weekly; 3 credits per semester

M.E. 134-135 Methods of Research. An introduction to bibliography and source materials for research in Music Education. The selection, outline and supervised completion of the Graduate Thesis. Prerequisite: Introduction to Graduate Study.

1 hour private lesson weekly; 3 credits per semester

MUSIC THEORY

Arranging 1-2. Contemporary techniques in professional arranging; melodic analysis, harmonization of melody, close and open voicing, instrumentation, idiomatic harmonic progressions, characteristics of sectional versus ensemble arranging.

2 hours weekly; 2 credits per semester

Arranging 103-104. Advanced arranging techniques.

2 hours weekly; 2 credits per semester

Composition 1-2. The study of basic principles of composition through projects in harmonically, melodically and formally generated music in a variety of organizational techniques. Analysis of works in different styles leads to consideration of form. Works are composed for small groups of instruments.

2 hours weekly; 2 credits per semester

Composition 3-4. Private instruction in those techniques of composition most relevant to the student's needs and interests.

1/2 hour private lesson weekly; 2 credits per semester

Composition 5-6. A continuation of Composition 3-4.

1 hour private lesson weekly; 4 credits per semester

Composition 7-8. Supervised composition of the Senior Thesis and continued study of relevant compositional techniques.

1 hour private lesson weekly; 4 credits per semester

Composition 109-110, 111-112. Advanced private study to develop the individual language of the student composer, leading to compositions for a variety of media and finally the Graduate Thesis.

1 hour private lesson weekly; 3 credits per semester

Counterpoint 1-2. Species counterpoint in two parts; double counterpoint; inventions in two parts.

2 hours weekly; 2 credits per semester

Counterpoint 3-4. Free counterpoint in three and four parts; canon and fugue.

2 hours weekly; 2 credits per semester.

Counterpoint 5-6. Advanced study in fugue, canon, passacaglia, application of contrapuntal forms to contemporary music.

1/2 hour private lesson weekly; 2 credits per semester

Counterpoint 107-108. Double and triple counterpoint; contemporary techniques; linear counterpoint; analysis of representative works.

1/2 hour private lesson weekly; 2 credits per semester

Ear Training 1-2. A review of the fundamentals of music: notation, clefs, scales, tonality, intervals, chords, ornamentation and terminology. Rhythmic articulation and sight singing in treble and bass clefs. Rhythmic and melodic dictation. The system of stationary solfeggio syllables is used.

2 hours weekly; 2 credits per semester

Ear Training 3-4. Advanced studies in rhythmic singing and sight singing in alto and tenor clef, harmonic dictation in two, three and four parts and in changing meter.

2 hours weekly; 2 credits per semester

Ear Training 5-6. Continuation of Ear Training 3-4.

2 hours weekly; 2 credits per semester

Advanced Ear Training 7-8. Advanced sight singing in contemporary idioms, applied solfege in various ensembles. Score reading, transposition, advanced dictation in contemporary styles.

2 hours weekly; 2 credits per semester

Solfege 109-110. An advanced course in sight singing in all clefs, harmonic dictation and transposition. Prerequisite: Ear Training 3-4 or equivalent.

1/2 hour private lesson weekly; 2 credits per semester

Form and Analysis 1-2. A study of the principles of chord structure and harmonic rhythm as they affect form and content; consideration of non-harmonic and contrapuntal devices. Short forms from piano and vocal literature are studied in the first semester. Longer forms such as sonatas and concertos will be examined in the second semester. Representative scores will be analyzed to illustrate various approaches to form, texture and instrumentation, and their bearing on performance. Prerequisite: Harmony 4 or permission of instructor & Dean.

2 hours weekly; 2 credits per semester

Form and Analysis 3-4. A continuation of Form and Analysis 1-2.

2 hours weekly; 2 credits per semester

Form and Analysis 103-104. Advanced study including a detailed examination of scores in several media, with concentration on understanding various compositional styles and musical development. The evolution of chromatic harmony to early Schoenberg is studied in first semester; other 20th century techniques of tonal organization are explored in the second semester.

(cont'd)

Harmony 1-2. The Harmonic Style of the 18th and Early 19th Centuries. The study of definitions, intervals, triads and inversions, principles of chord progression, non-harmonic tones, harmonic rhythm, seventh chords and their inversions, modulation and secondary dominants; an introduction to harmonic analysis, the harmonization of bass lines and melodies, and keyboard harmony.

2 hours weekly; 2 credits per semester

Harmony 3-4. The Harmonic Style of Later 19th Century. Study of irregular resolutions, modulation to remote keys, diminished 7th chords, 9th, 11th and 13th chords, nondominant seventh chords, and chromatically altered chords; analysis of Bach chorales and other literature; keyboard harmonization of basses and melodies.

2 hours weekly; 2 credits per semester

Harmony 5-6. The Harmonic Style of the 20th Century.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit per semester

Keyboard Harmony 1-2. Applied keyboard skills for piano majors with emphasis on harmonization (diatonic and chromatic functions), transposition, and traditional figured bass realization. Styles of harmonization extend from traditional accompaniment patterns to an introduction of contemporary 7th and 9th chords and "lead sheet" harmonization.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit per semester

Instrumentation 1-2. A study of the nature of the various orchestral instruments. Scoring for orchestral combinations.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit per semester

Instrumentation 3-4. Scoring for full orchestra and band, and for various instrumental combinations.

1 hour weekly; 1 credit per semester

Instrumentation 105-106. Advanced study of instrumentation with emphasis on orchestration for the symphony orchestra. Analysis of the techniques employed by the major composers of the 18th, 19th and 20th centuries.

1/2 hour private lesson weekly; 2 credits per semester

Music Manuscript. A one-semester course dealing with the fundamentals of manuscript, the preparation of scores and parts, various methods of score reproduction, and innovations in contemporary notation.

1 hour weekly, 1 credit

Song Writing 1-2. An applied study of the melodic and lyric writing of the 20th century. Historical connection of pop tunes from Tin Pan Alley to current Broadway. Song styles and types will be considered.

2 hours weekly; 2 credits per semester

MUSIC HISTORY

Introduction to Music History 1-4. An introduction to and examination of music and musical style from the year 800 to the present. After introducing the student to various concepts of and tools necessary for the historical study of music, the course will concentrate on the study of Western music in an historical context. The emergence of specific composers and representative works will be examined.

The first semester traces music history from the Greeks through Josquin des Prez; the second from the high Renaissance through J. S. Bach. The second year begins with the early classic (1720) and proceeds to 1800 in the first semester; the second semester begins with Beethoven's mature style and investigates Romanticism and the 20th century.

2 hours weekly; 2 credits per semester

Admissions

POLICIES. Boston Conservatory of Music uses the rolling admissions process. Applicants are encouraged to apply and audition as early as possible to assure that space will be available. Freshmen are accepted for Fall Semester enrollment only. Transfer students may be accepted for Fall Semester and for Spring Semester on a space-available basis only.

REQUIREMENTS. The applicant must submit an official application form and payment of the fee of $45 before April 15. Successful completion of diploma requirements at an accredited secondary school, or acceptable evidence of the equivalent, is required with a minimum of 16 units distributed as follows:

English	4 units
Foreign Language, Math, Social Studies, Science	8 units
Electives	4 units

All applicants are required to submit experience data, and academic references, high school transcripts, and the results of either the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) of the College Board or the American College Testing Service Test (ACT).

TRANSFER STUDENTS. Students wishing to transfer to the Conservatory from other institutions must submit transcripts from the post-secondary schools they have attended, together with a catalog and statement of release in good standing from an appropriate official. The maximum number of credits which may be transferred from another institution is 75. Transfer credits will be accepted at the discretion of the Dean.

Transfer credit from accredited collegiate institutions in Applied Music, Dance, Applied Theatre, Music History and Music Theory are determined by examination upon entrance to the Conservatory. The Conservatory participates in the program of Advanced Placement Examinations of the College Board. Students who demonstrate satisfactory achievement through this test will be awarded academic credit and advanced standing.

FOREIGN STUDENTS. Students from foreign countries must submit evidence of equivalent academic training and qualifications, in addition to the adequate understanding of the usage of the English language. The results of the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) are required by the Conservatory. Information may be obtained from United States Embassies and Legations.

AUDITIONS. All applicants are required to perform a live audition for members of the faculty or authorized representatives of the Conservatory. When great distance prevents travel to Boston for a live audition, alternate arrangements may be made through the Admissions Office. Those who have performed live auditions at the Conservatory have a distinct advantage in possibility for admission. Auditions are scheduled throughout the year and information regarding exact dates is furnished by the Admissions Office.

ACCEPTANCE NOTIFICATION. In general, the applicant may expect to receive notification of his acceptance within two weeks of the date of audition, providing all required application materials have been received and are in order.

MUSIC DIVISION ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS. The applicant must demonstrate his ability to pursue Conservatory level work as described elsewhere in this catalog. Each applicant will be given a basic theory and harmony test, lasting approximately 45 minutes.

Composition. Applicants must demonstrate proficiency on at least one instrument or voice. Ability to play the piano is highly desirable. In addition, the prospective student must submit several original compositions as evidence of creative ability.

Strings, Woodwinds, Brass: The applicant should be prepared to play scales, an etude, and two contrasting movements or pieces, one of which should be from a concerto, sonata, or major work for the instrument.

Percussion: The applicant must demonstrate the following proficiency levels — Snare: proficient stick technique through such materials as Stone, Goldenberg, Cirone, and Firth; Mallet: fundamentals and sight reading skills through such repertoire as Bach, Handel, Corelli, Creston, and Basta; Timpani: fundamental mallet control through two beginning drum studies, Goodman Timpani Manual; tuning.

Piano: The applicant must be prepared to play scales and arpeggios, a Bach Invention, Prelude & Fugue, or an equivalent Baroque work, movement from a Classical sonata by Mozart, Haydn, or Beethoven, and a larger composition from the Romantic or Contemporary period. All audition repertoire must be memorized. A sight reading test will be given at the time of the audition.

Organ: The applicant must be able to meet piano entrance requirements and demonstrate a comparable advancement in technique and repertoire on the organ. All applicants will be required to perform one Bach or Baroque work appropriate to their abilities.

Guitar: The applicant must demonstrate knowledge of major and minor scales, play an etude, and two contrasting pieces, one of which should be from Renaissance or Baroque literature.

Voice: The applicant should present four art songs from memory: one in Italian (from the 'Italian Anthology'), one in English, and the others in German and/or French. Developed tone quality and true pitch are of particular importance in the audition. An ability to play the piano is desirable.

Music Education: The applicant must audition with his/her major instrument or voice; an ability to play the piano is highly desirable. Applicants will be asked to demonstrate skills in sight singing, piano, conducting, and accompaniment. An interview with the Music Education faculty is required at the time of the audition. The student will be asked to explain his/her motivation toward the profession of teaching.

DANCE DIVISION ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS. Dance applicants will be asked to participate in two technique classes, one in Ballet and one in Modern. Material covered in the classes will become progressively more difficult, and dance faculty will observe the proficiency of applicants.

Following the classes, each applicant will be called back individually to perform a 2-3 minute solo in Ballet or Modern. This may be the student's own choreography or the work of a teacher. The applicant must provide his own accompaniment by preparing a reel-to-reel tape (7 1/2 ips) or a cassette tape to music of his own choice.

THEATRE DIVISION ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS. All applicants must prepare two contrasting monologues: one from contemporary drama and one from classic repertoire (pre-1800). Each selection should be 2-3 minutes in length. Monologues must be memorized and prepared thoroughly. Several speeches by one character may be combined, omitting other characters to make a scene of sufficient length, or both parts of a two-character scene may be integrated. Audition materials should be selected to present the applicant's range and abilities to best advantage.

Applicants will take a dance placement class. Leotard, tights and ballet shoes are required .

Applicants should prepare a light, rhythmic song such as "I Got a Lot of Living to Do" from Bye Bye Birdie and a song of sustained quality such as "If I Loved you" from Carousel. Applicants must bring their own sheet music; an accompanist will be provided. Following the vocal auditions will be a personal interview with division personnel.

GRADUATE DIVISION ADMISSION. General requirements for those seeking admission to the Graduate Division are discussed on page 38. In addition, the following requirements must be observed:

1. Application must be filed using the Conservatory's official form. Application forms may be obtained from:

Director of Admissions
Boston Conservatory
8 The Fenway
Boston, MA 02115
(617) 536-6340.

2. All transcripts of previous collegiate work must be submitted along with catalogues of description.

3. The aptitude portion of the Graduate Records Examination must be taken and the results forwarded to the Conservatory. Information may be obtained by writing the Educational Testing Service, Princeton, NJ 08540.

All applicants must be auditioned and interviewed by Boston Conservatory of Music Faculty and personnel.

Boston Conservatory supports the efforts of secondary school officials and governing bodies to have their schools achieve regional accredited status to provide assurance of the quality of the educational preparation of its applicants for admission.

Students whose loans have not been approved or whose financial aid from federal, state or private sources has not been verified by the date of registration must be prepared to remit the full amount due.

DEFERRED PAYMENT. Students and parents desiring to pay education expenses in monthly installments may make arrangements to do so with the following agency:

Academic Management Service/1110 Central Avenue/
Pawtucket, RI 02861
Toll Free: (800) 556-6684

The Conservatory accepts deferred payment through Academic Management Service as long as the student's contractual obligation to the service is kept current. Default on the AMS contract will result in the deferred amount becoming payable to The Conservatory immediately and in full. The Conservatory does not administer deferred payments, installment programs, etc., other than that described above, under any circumstance.

WITHDRAWAL FROM ENROLLMENT. Students withdrawing from The Conservatory must submit their intent in writing to the Academic Dean. In the event of withdrawal or dismissal, charges will be assessed in proportion to the length of the student's enrollment from the first day of classes to the date of withdrawal or dismissal. Therefore, it is of extreme importance that the exact date of withdrawal or dismissal be clearly recorded in the Dean's Office.

Date of Withdrawal or Dismissal	Tuition Charges
Within 2 weeks	50% of the semester's tuition
Within 3 weeks	60% of the semester's tuition
Within 4 weeks	80% of the semester's tuition
After 4 weeks	100% of the semester's tuition

If a student withdraws who lives in a residence and/or is a participant in a Conservatory meal plan, the above schedule will be followed with the exception that the time period will begin on the day that the residence opens for the semester rather than the first day of classes. Students who wish to withdraw from residence and/or meal plan who are not withdrawing from The Conservatory are not eligible for a refund. In the event of early withdrawal or dismissal from the Summer Session, charges will be assessed on a schedule proportionate to the above.

Extension charges are not refundable.

The Conservatory reserves the right to alter tuition or other fees at any time.

Financial Aid

The Conservatory Financial Aid Office administers a variety of assistance programs to help students finance their education when their own and their families' resources are inadequate for this purpose. It is a fundamental principle of financial aid, however, that the student's first resource must be his own earning capacity, followed by the income and assets of his immediate family.

To facilitate proper judgment as to the amount and kind of assistance for which the student is eligible, a complete financial analysis is required. This analysis may be performed by either the College Scholarship Service or the American College Testing Service. The preferred of the two is the College Scholarship Service, and their Financial Aid Form (FAF) may be obtained at high school guidance offices and all college financial aid offices. The applicant will be requested to furnish information regarding the family's financial resources, assets, and liabilities. An analysis of this information is performed and the result is reported to the Financial Aid Office.

FORMS OF FINANCIAL AID. The following types of aid are available individually or in combination and must be applied for each year:

Pell Grants (formerly BEOG) (Undergraduates only)

This program of awards is funded by the federal government. All undergraduate aid applicants are required to apply for a Pell Grant before they will be considered for any other form of aid. The student receives direct notification of his eligibility and the grant may be used at the institution in which the student enrolls. These grants may be transferred from one institution to another and range in size from $225 to $1800 per year. Pell Grant application forms are available at any financial aid office, but most students apply for the Pell Grant on the FAF.

Supplemental Education Opportunity Grants (Undergraduates only)

This program is also funded by the federal government. These grants are available to only a limited number of applicants and range in size from $200 to $2000, determined by the degree of financial need. Application is made on the Conservatory Financial Aid Application. The FAF is also required.

College Work-Study (Undergraduates & Graduates)

This is a campus-based program of part-time employment funded partially by the federal government. Students may earn money to help meet incidental expenses by assisting with work in Conservatory offices, the Library, residence halls, etc., for up to 20 hours of work weekly. Students awarded Work-Study as part of their financial aid will be placed in an appropriate job by the Conservatory. Wages are paid on a weekly basis. Application is made on the Conservatory Financial Aid Application. The FAF is also required.

Conservatory Scholarships or Work-Assistantships (Undergraduates & Graduates)

A limited number of performance-based scholarships are available to students who demonstrate the highest artistic skills. Some Conservatory departments award assistantships rather than scholarships, and recipients of these awards have certain responsibilities to their departments. Application is made on the Conservatory Financial Aid Application.

Guaranteed Student Loans/Federally Insured Student Loans. (Undergraduates & Graduates)

These loan programs require a separate application, obtainable at banks and credit unions. As of October 1, 1981, all applicants must meet specified eligibility requirements based on the family adjusted gross income. Should the family adjusted gross income exceed maximum limits, eligibility may yet be possible if financial need is indicated by the results in the FAF. Borrowing limits are as follows:

	Annual Limit	Aggregate Limit
Undergraduates	$2,500	$12,500
Graduates	$5,000	$25,000

(The aggregate limit for Graduates includes any previous Undergraduate loans.)

These loans currently carry an interest rate of 9% for new borrowers, but rates are subject to possible change. Repayment of the loan begins following a grace period of 6 months after the student leaves school. Loan repayment is deferrable for graduate school or service in the military, Peace Corps, or VISTA.

Students who must take loans in order to meet educational expenses must initiate application proceedings far enough in advance of the beginning of the semester that published payment deadlines may be met. In most cases, it may take 6 weeks from initial loan application to date of disbursement.

Loans to Parents (Undergraduates & Graduates)

These loans also require a separate application, obtainable at banks and credit unions. The maximum amount a parent may borrow for any one student in any academic year is $3,000, with an aggregate loan limit of $15,000. Interest on these loans is currently at 14%, but rates are subject to possible change. Repayment of the loan is required to begin 30 to 60 days following the date of disbursement.

The Poirier Loan Fund (Undergraduates & Graduates)

A bequest from the estate of the late Alfred Poirier has been designated as a special fund for emergency loans to undergraduate students in their Junior or Senior years and graduate students who have completed 50% of their curricular programs who have extraordinary financial need. Applications for the Poirier Loan may be obtained from the Financial Aid Office.

The Conservatory reserves the right to adjust the student's award to allow the most equitable distribution of financial aid to the greatest number of eligible applicants. Students are expected to save $600 to $800 from summer earnings each year.

SPECIFIC SCHOLARSHIP FUNDS. A number of specific scholarship funds have been established in honor or in memory of various individuals who have been affiliated with the Conservatory. By applying for scholarship assistance on the Conservatory Financial Aid Application, the student's eligibility for any of these scholarship funds is considered. Recipients of these awards are so notified of the honor.

Regulations

ATTENDANCE. Regular attendance at classes, lessons, and rehearsals is essential to the successful completion of all Conservatory courses. Absence due to illness or other emergency may be excused if supported by a statement from a physician or other medical authority or if approved by the Dean. Unexcused absence may not exceed the hour equivalent of the number of credit hours earned in the semester for class subjects. Excessive absence may result in the dismissal from the course with a failing grade.

Unexcused absence from private instruction is not permitted. Lessons missed due to unavoidable absence will be made up providing 24 hours advance notice is given to the instructor. Lessons are forfeited unless proper notice is given. All lessons that are made up must be completed during the current semester.

Any member of a musical, dance, acting, or musical theatre organization who fails to participate in a public performance will forfeit credit for the course.

Attendance at Commencement is compulsory for all graduating students. A penalty of $25 (in addition to the Graduation Fee) will be assessed any student who is absent, and the student must present himself at the Conservatory in person before his degree (diploma) will be released.

Regular attendance at public performances by students is regarded as a vital part of education at the Conservatory.

AUDITING. Matriculated students wishing to audit courses must receive approval from the instructor and the Dean. Students auditing courses may attend and participate in classes, but are not responsible for assignments or examinations and will receive neither grades nor academic credit. Full tuition is charged for courses audited.

CHANGE OF COURSES. Changing a course or class is permitted only with the approval of the Registrar. Such changes must be recorded with the Registrar's Office before they become official. No course or class change will be permitted after the second week of classes.

CHANGE OF INSTRUCTOR. After careful consideration and with the consent of the applied instructor a student may elect to change instructor once during his program of undergraduate study. Permission must be obtained from both of the instructors and the Dean.

CLASS SIZE. In order to offer instruction in classes, there must be a minimum undergraduate enrollment of 7. When there is insufficient enrollment, the class may be offered in a subsequent year or another class may be substituted with the approval of the Dean. Minimum enrollment for a graduate course is 5.

CONCERT PERFORMANCE. Solo performances are required and fulfilled in the following ways:

- 1) concert hours
- 2) studio recitals presented by applied teachers
- 3) general student recitals
- 4) solo work in chamber, orchestral, or choral concerts

Minimum performances per semester:

Freshmen & Sophomores	1 per semester
Jr. & Sr. Performance Majors	2 per semester
Jr. & Sr. Concentrates	1 per semester
Graduate students (full-time)
Performance Majors and Concentrates	1 per semester

Students are excused from the above schedule during the semester of their Junior or Senior Recitals.

CREDIT LOADS. A student is considered full-time at the undergraduate level if carrying 12 credit hours per semester (diploma curriculum, 10 hours). Graduate students are considered full-time if carrying 8 credit hours per semester. The allowable credit load in any semester is determined by the student’s individual curricular requirements as specified in this catalog. Students wishing to elect additional courses must have the approval of the Dean. There will be an additional charge on a per course or per credit hour basis.

EXAMINATIONS. All students following a degree or diploma curriculum are required to take examinations in their courses as scheduled at the end of each semester.

All music majors enrolled in applied music courses must perform before a faculty jury at the end of each semester. Musical Theater majors must do so at the end of the second semester each year. The jury grade constitutes a percentage of the student’s applied music grade for the semester. Students with an unsatisfactory record of attendance (fewer than 13 lessons per semester) will not be admitted to the jury examination and will be graded “E”.

Composition students in their sophomore, junior, senior, and graduate years must submit their recent works to a jury composed of members of the Composition faculty at the end of the year. Written comments and a grade of Pass or Fail will be issued.

GRADING SYSTEM

Letter Grade	Numerical Equivalent	Grade Quotient
A	95-100	4.000
A-	90-94	3.700
B+	87-89	3.300
B	83-86	3.000
B-	80-82	2.700
C+	77-79	2.300
C	73-76	2.000
C-	70-72	1.700
D	65-69	1.000
E	below 65	none
W (Withdrawal)		none
WP - Withdrawal while passing		none
WF - Withdrawal while failing		none
I (Incomplete)		none
NC (No Credit)		none

INCOMPLETES. The grade "I" (incomplete) may be requested by a student to permit additional time to complete course requirements or to take missed final examinations only when the cause of the delay has been an authenticated illness or emergency. Request forms are available in the registrar's office and must be fully processed before the end of the term.

An incomplete grade issued at the end of the Fall Semester must be completed before the end of the fifth week of the following Spring Semester. An incomplete grade issued at the end of Spring Semester must be completed before the end of the fifth week of the Fall Semester. An incomplete grade issued at the end of the Summer session must be completed before the end of the fifth week of the Fall Semester.

Failure to comply with this schedule will cause the incomplete grade to become an "E" and will so be noted on the student's transcript. The extension of an "I" is permissible only with the approval of the Dean.

DEAN'S LIST. Undergraduate students carrying 12 or more credits in any semester (diploma candidates, 10 credit hours) will be placed on the Dean's List if achieving a grade point average of 3.300 or will be placed on the Dean's List with Honors if achieving a grade point average of 3.600. A grade below C— or an I grade disqualifies a student for Dean's List Honors regardless of the cumulative average.

GRADE REPORTS. Fall grade reports may be obtained from the Registrar's Office at the beginning of Spring Semester. Spring grade reports will be mailed to the student's permanent home address. No grades will be released unless all financial obligations to the school have been satisfied.

GRADUATION REQUIREMENTS. Each candidate for an undergraduate degree or diploma must provide evidence of successful completion of a curriculum described in the catalog effective at the time of the student's matriculation. Students receiving grades below C- in more than twelve credit hours will not be permitted to graduate.

In addition to the prescribed curricular requirements, students in the Music Division must observe the following requirements:

Music Performance Majors. Students must have studied a comprehensive repertoire in their major applied areas and must present solo recitals in the Junior and Senior years. Outstanding soloists may audition for performances with the Conservatory Orchestra or other major musical organization.

Music Education Majors. Students must have studied a comprehensive repertoire in their applied concentrate areas and must present a public recital in their Senior year. This recital must be performed from memory by piano and voice concentrates. Other instrumental concentrates must perform at least one major work or equivalent from memory.

Composition Majors. Students must give evidence by examination that they have acquired proficiency in their applied concentration instruments and must present for approval a folio of original compositions (neatly written in ink) as follows:

1. No fewer than five works in small forms such as piano pieces, songs and/or solos for orchestral instruments.
2. A composition in fugal form for string quartet, woodwind or brass ensemble.
3. An example of sonata form for piano or for an ensemble combination.
4. A composition of symphonic proportions or a work for chorus and orchestra (minimum duration of 10 minutes). Two copies of this final work must be appropriately bound and presented to the Conservatory Library two weeks prior to the date of graduation.
5. A senior recital of 30 minutes duration, prepared and presented under the supervision of the student's applied concentrate instructor.
6. A recital of approximately 20 minutes duration of the student's original compositions.

Composition majors are required to have their work performed in at least four student composition concerts in as many years

GRADUATION WITH HONORS. Students whose cumulative grade point average indicates high scholastic attainment will be awarded the degree as follows:

1. Summa Cum Laude—Grade Point Average 3.8 or higher.
2. Magna Cum Laude—Grade Point Average between 3.60 and 3.79.
3. Cum Laude—Grade Point Average between 3.30 and 3.59.

Only those credits earned at the Boston Conservatory will be computed in the final average.

(cont'd)

PLACEMENT EXAMINATIONS. Upon entrance to the Conservatory, placement examinations are administered to all students. Dancers are placed in graded levels in all technique classes based on their ability. Academic credit for technique classes is based on the requirements of the curriculum, whatever the actual level of the class.

Music students may be given advanced standing as a result of placement examinations administered prior to the beginning of each semester.

PROBATION. Students carrying a grade point average of 1.700 or below will be placed on academic probation for the semester. Significant improvement must be shown in the following semester or dismissal will result.

PROMOTIONAL AUDITIONS. At the conclusion of the third semester of applied music, theater or dance study, each student is evaluated by the faculty for promotion. The faculty will vote to advance or detain the student as well as issue a jury grade for the semester.

If promotion is granted, the student will be given a grade by the jury and it is presumed that only unforeseen circumstances will prevent the normal completion of subsequent curricular requirements. If promotion is denied, the jury will issue no grade, a grade of NC will be issued for the applied course, and the student will be allowed one additional probationary semester in which to repeat the course and achieve promotion. Failure to achieve promotion will result in dismissal from the Conservatory.

Promotionals for Composition majors will be held at the end of the fourth semester at which time members of the Composition faculty will examine the student's recent works.

WITHDRAWAL FROM COURSES. There is a 2 week period at the beginning of each semester when a course may be dropped or added. Following that period, a course may be dropped only with the approval of the Dean. If a student withdraws before the mid term point a grade of "W" is assigned. After the mid term point the grade will be "WP" or "WF". Courses from which students withdraw do not figure into their grade point average. The student may not withdraw from a course after the 13th week of the term.

WITHDRAWAL FROM ENROLLMENT. If after careful consideration the student feels it would be in his best interest to withdraw from the Conservatory, he should confirm his intentions with the Dean. The exact date that withdrawal becomes effective is most important in determining adjustments to tuition charges and financial aid. Further information on the financial implications are discussed on page
